OH! And one other quick question !

Are you aware as the Department of Human Services, if the State of Minnesota provides any in home monitoring facilities (i.e. audio and video surveillance) kind like they offer to monitor substance abusers, to protect the mentally impaired from harming themselves or others.

Thanking You,

Hello Smeeta –

I am sorry you are having to deal with this. The best route is to work with your doctor on admission if needed. There really isn't a place you can go and just be observed unless you are experiencing symptoms which are interfering with your safety or ability to manage day to day activities. I am sure you have already with your attorney, but get the records yourself from you inpatient admissions and time with the mental health center. Any current doctors can provide a summary of how you're doing. I wish you luck.

Hey Heidi,

This is Smeeta Antony. As you are probably aware, I am undergoing a divorce proceeding on grounds of me being a grave threat to my children's lives that requested for me to discharge parental responsibilities effective 11/20 unless proven otherwise in Trial.

As the Department of Human Services and as someone who has worked on my case in the past, would you be willing to educate me on the process for what I can do to check myself into a hospital for a week to be observed ?

Hope all is well at your end!

Thanking You,
