To Whom it May Concern:

Smeeta Antony has been a certified Metro Mobility rider since April of 2018. Since getting certified, she has averaged over two rides a day on our system.

Ms. Antony has exhibited patience, professionalism and appropriate social interaction during exchanges with drivers, customer service staff and me. Ms. Antony has not created a single service disruption after nearly a year of frequent ridership. This is especially impressive given that Metro Mobility struggled to find an appropriate pickup location at her primary address until very recently, which meant that Ms. Antony was marked as a no-show and failed to receive transportation on several occasions through no fault of her own.

I appreciate the respect and understanding that Ms. Antony has consistently shown to the Metro Mobility system and my staff. I would be happy to discuss this matter in greater detail. Feel free to call or e-mail me with any questions. My contact information is below.

Hi Alyson,

My name is Adrian Sommers and I am a real estate agent with Coldwell Banker Burnet. I recently helped Smeeta through the process of purchasing a new home. I have been actively working with her since November of last year.

We spent lots of time in the car together driving around and looking at homes. Smeeta was a pleasure to work with and she never displayed any rudeness or disruptive behaviors. She is very organized and has meticulous attention to detail. She was on the ball with every task that I gave to ensure that her home would close on time.

Regards,

Adrian Sommers

To Whom it may concern,

I am a ordained minister from the Diocese of Saint Paul and Minneapolis assigned to Pax Christi Catholic Community in Eden Prairie for the past 21 years. I have been asked to comment on my experience with Smeeta at Pax. I must be careful what I comment on as I have met with Smeeta as a minister/counselor in the past. What I can assure you of; my experience with her regarding her Sunday Mass attendance for the past several years. In all that time, whether with her two daughters or alone, I have never witnessed any disruption or disruptive behavior from her. In fact, the opposite would be more accurate, as before I actually met her, I admired how wonderfully / respectfully she and her daughters worshiped and interacted with each other and other parishioners. Please feel free to contact me if you feel the need.

Yours respectfully,

To whom it may concern,

I worked with Smeeta as a vocational counselor from 4/17/2018 to 10/ 4/2018. Smeeta attended our computer lab for job search activity twice a week during this time. Smeeta did not exhibit any behaviors during our work together. Smeeta did voice concerns regarding electronic harassment, however was able to use our computers without incident.

Hello,

I am contacting you on behalf of my friend Smeeta Antony. She is not a menace to society, nor is she a danger to herself or others.

I met Smeeta in 2017 when she asked me to observe her behavior. I sat with her while she worked and accompanied her to doctor appointments. She did not harass or disturb anyone. She was every professional at all times and was always working; on her laptop or on the phone. Rather than trying to hide or ignore her condition, she sought help from several doctors to get to the bottom of her condition. These are my rough notes (from the first couple of days and the last couple of days) I took while I was with her. It wasn't until the fifth day that I saw signs of her episodes. But it was only whispers of profanity, nothing more. She is a very warm, kind-hearted person, not someone who belongs in a clinic.

Thank you for your time.

Ayanna M.

In these interactions Smeeta has been nothing but a fantastic person to work with. She always has the brightest smile on her face and is polite and patient.
